THIS Day the Right Honorable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Common-Council of the City of London, waited upon His Majesty (being introduced by the Lord in Waiting) with the following Address and Petition, which was read by Sir John William Rose the Recorder.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London in Common-Council assembled, humbly approach your Throne with deep Concern to represent that every Class of your Majesty's Subjects, but more especially those of the laborious and industrious Poor, are now suffering extreme Distress, arising from the excessive Price of Bread, and of every other necessary Article of Life.

Under Circumstances so trying, your Majesty may rest assured that your faithful Citizens of London, steady in their Attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and in their Confidence in that happy Constitution under which we live, have discouraged, and will continue to discourage, every Attempt to excite tumultuous and disorderly Proceedings, not only unjustifiable in themselves, but directly tending to continue and to increase the present Calamity, and will, both by active Exertions and by Example, do their utmost to encourage a strict and uniform Obedience to the Laws, looking to the Legislature, and to that only, under Divine Providence, for Relief; and trusting in your Majesty's paternal Regard for your People that its utmost Energy will be exerted for that Purpose.

We therefore humbly pray that your Majesty will be pleased speedily to convene your Parliament, that they may concert such Measures as they in their Wisdom shall judge most effectual to remove the Sufferings, and supply the Wants of your People, thereby preserving to them the Blessings they have long enjoyed under your Majesty's mild and gracious Government.

Signed by Order of Court,
WILLIAM RIX.

To which Address and Petition His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

I Am always desirous of recurring to the Advice and Assistance of My Parliament on any public Emergency, and, previous to receiving your Petition, I had given Directions for convening My Parliament for the Dispatch of Business.

They were all received very graciously, and had the Honor to kiss His Majesty's Hand.

St. James's, October 15, 1800.

THE following Address has been presented to the King; which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most truly loyal and dutiful Subjects, the Merchants of England, trading into the Levant Seas, residing at Smirna, with Hearts oppressed and overpowered with the contending Emotions of the profoundest Grief, and of the most lively Joy, humiliate ourselves before a Superintending, Allwise, and Benign Creator, to offer up the Overflowings of our Gratitude, for having, in his infinite Wisdom and Mercy, rescued from a parricidal Arm, the sacred Life of a Sovereign who is justly beloved and venerated by an affectionate People.

Weighed down by Feelings the most melancholy and torturing, whilst reviewing the aggravating Circumstances of a Crime of the most diabolical Hue, from the Contemplation of which the generous Heart at once appalled and distracted, recoils with Horror and Indignation; a Crime whose Perpetration had for ever bereaved us and every English Bosom of a revered Father, and the admiring World, of a Model of consummate Virtue: we are yielding to the natural and irresistible Impulsions of Duty and of Affection, by stepping forward on so awful an Occasion to unite our sincerest and most enthusiastic Congratulations, with the unanimous Voice of your Majesty's People on your sacred Person having, once more, by Bounty invisible, been shielded from the wretched Traitor's dire Weapon.

May that same unerring Providence, who has hitherto deigned to be the Guardian of your Majesty, long continue to shed His choicest Blessings on you; may your auspicious and paternal Reign still add Lustre to Royalty,—to Royalty, the Bulwark of our Freedom, which the perverse and profligate few have spurned, but which shall arise triumphant from so unnatural a Struggle; may the amiable Example, which shines refulgent in your Royal Person, tend to the Dissemination of Virtue, and long, long reigning in the rooted Affection of a free, loyal, and flourishing People, may we continue to be the Admiration of Europe by the lasting Enjoyment of our Rights, our Liberties, and our most excellent Constitution. Francis Werry, Consul.

Smirna, 24th July 1800.
